Evidence Synthesis in Business

Guidelines for Writing Evidence Syntheses:

- Campbell Collaboration a multidisciplinary guide to knowledge synthesis methodology
- Literature Review as a Research Methodology: An Overview and Guidelines paper published in Journal of Business Research by H. H. Snyder (2019).
- Shades of Grey: Guidelines for Working with the Grey Literature in Systematic Reviews for Management and Organizational Studies – paper published in International Journal of Management Reviews by R.J. Adams (2017).

Evidence Synthesis Reporting Standards:

- PRISMA Preferred Reporting Items for Systematic Reviews and Meta-analysis The most popular reporting standards used in systematic reviews. PRISMA also provides reporting standards for various other types of knowledge synthesis (including protocols).
- JARS Quant Quantitative Meta-analysis Reporting Standards The APA's knowledge synthesis reporting guidelines.

Where to Find & Register Protocols:

- Open Science Framework Registries – a multidisciplinary registry for knowledge synthesis protocols

Potential Places to Search:

Databases	Grey Literature
Business Source Ultimate	CBCA Complete – Trade journals and more
ABI / Inform Complete	ProQuest Dissertations and Theses
CBCA Complete	Site searching – Major organizations
PsycINFO	Business reports – Mergent Intellect, IBISWorld, etc.
Scopus

Examples of Evidence Syntheses:

Vocational and business training to improve women's labour market outcomes in low- and middle-income countries: a systematic review

Multi-sector partnerships in the urban development context: A scoping review